DIFFERENT VIEWS

Yes, We Have Our Differences

Not all members of the Monroe Central family are alike. At times these differences become disagreements as in the case of the teachers versus the administration. However, after threatening "to withhold services," even this potentially disastrous disagreement was resolved.

The sight of teachers carrying picket signs was not one that students saw. When the band and teachers could not agree, a mediator was called. The signs greeted him as he arrived.

Differences in dress are apparent to even a casual visitor to Monroe Central. Some students love the preppie look. For instance, Matthew Shaw would never be seen in jeans.

Eddie Dines is one of those students who enjoys the more casual look. He, like many others, doesn't even bother to tie his hi-tops.

Not all of the differences are ones of personal preferences. Some are physical. Roxanne Shaw is the only eighth grade girl in school history who can look over the top of lockers.

Hair styles are another area of disagreement. Shawn Dental prefers the traditional clean-cut look. Jeff Schricker, on the other hand, goes for the modern, permed style.

Another major source of disagreement was the heating/cooling system. On the same day, Tracy Simmons wears a sweater and jacket while Shayne Huston appears too warm in a tank top.

When seen at school, Mark Howell is the neat, smiling "Mr. Irresistible." However, at work he becomes somewhat grubby although the smile is still there.

But In The End, We're BEARS

Despite the threatened strike, many losing records in team sports, and occasional references to "Moron" Central, students are one in their loyalty to MC. We can take pride in the performance of our academic team, the great sound of the Marching Bears, and the many close friendships that are formed.

Some students were fortunate enough to have shiny dependable cars. However, for Troy Johnston and others there were those unpleasant February days when the car wouldn't start.

Suzanne Thompson and Jeff Willen typify the personality differences among students. While Suzanne is somewhat quiet, Jeff knows no strangers.

Whether at the elementary or the high school, students are constantly reminded they are MC Bears.

Rodney Tinsman and Tom Bean demonstrate the changes in both the world and the curriculum. Boys no longer are afraid to show their skill in the kitchen.

Sean Anderson and Holly Addington playfully demonstrate a difference of opinion between students and faculty. Some students do not limit their displays of affection to holding hands.

Kurt Washler felt somewhat different when he was the only seventh grader on the Washington trip. However, the Hi Lites staff is grateful for his excellent pictures.

Some students don't even have cars. Emily Halstead is one of many upperclassmen who must ride a bus filled with elementary children.

Rumbo Presentation Turns the Crowd Wild

If anyone needs to ask the title of Masque and Gavel's 1987-1988 presentation, they undoubtedly never saw the unforgettable feature of Rumbo. Starring as Rumbo, Curtis Bow portrayed a hilarious nerd dominated by two strong-willed women, played by Jennifer Gillespie and Candi Jones. Throughout the play Rumbo pursues the mission given to him: to free Americans from the dreadful force of Cobra, portrayed by Laura Lackey. And without the undying loyalty of Rumbo's friend Eugene, played by Jim Randall, and the sustaining ego of Rocky, played by Sean Anderson, the cast of this play would never have been complete.

"I'd have taken Friday night's performance on tour," stated Masque and Gavel director Paula Washler. "It was the funniest show I've ever produced. The performers would have given Civic Theater a 'run for its money' with this show."

Kim Hoerst makes a pass at one of the soldiers played by Eric Suttiff with the classic line, "You Tarzan. Me Jane. Get it?"

Leann Sanders playing the role, Charlene of the Dupree family, proves her point to movie producer, Jim Randall. She's not there to be part of a T.V. blooper!

Mike Smart's Bubba, brother of the 3 Charlenes, gives Albert (Curtis Bow) a death threat!

Kim Hoerst is dumbfounded that bowling does not exist in the jungle.

Movie star Rocky, played by Sean Anderson, gives orders for his lip-gloss and hairs-pray in a kind way!

Sound and Light Crew — Front Row: Mrs.
Paula Washler, Dama Dawson. Second

Fall Brings Music, Talent, Fun, And Laughter

The two competitive events that area boys and girls look forward to every fall are the Mardi Gras Pageant and Fire Prevention.

The candidates for Mr. and Miss Flame set out cans, hoping for generous donations. The proceeds, which are given to the Farmland Fire Department, are counted during the evening dance to determine the winners. Lydia Hoyt and Joe Jones were named Mr. and Miss Flame for 1987.

The Mardi Gras Pageant which was held October 3, at the Winchester Community High School had two representatives from each school in Randolph County. Each girl performed in a group aerobic routine, an individual talent event, and appeared in an evening dress. As the girls got to know one another, they voted on Miss Personality which was awarded to Jenny Gillespie.

Jenny Gillespie performs her version of "Rag Time" in the talent competition.

Accepting her trophy, Jenny Gillespie is obviously pleased to be the winner of the Miss Personality Award at the Mardi Gras Pageant.

As her talent in the Mardi Gras competition, Kelly Gleason performs "The Prodigal."

Representing the freshmen class are Joe Janes and Kerri Sutiliff. Joe was crowned the 1987 Mr. Flame.

Mandi McKeivey and Andy Knight prepare to meet the Fire Prevention crowd.

Smiling for the camera are senior class representative Chad Gantz and Carry Lockard

Scott Meyer and Lydia Hoyt represented the sophomore class well as Lydia was crowned Miss Flame

Homecoming Is A Huge Success

As Homecoming came to a close, so did all the whacky, spirited dress that comes along with it.

Everything involved in Homecoming, including the competition games, the banners, and the lip sync contest was well-organized by Mr. Preston Proctor and Mrs. Sandy Cowgill with the help of the Student Council members. Homecoming, as usual, was a huge success.

The spirit competition, which lasted throughout the day and night, was won by the sophomore class. Although the varsity boys lost their game against Cowan 52 to 69, the spirit of the crowd was high.

Seniors, Jay Weatherly and Corry Lackard smile graciously as they are named 1988 Homecoming King and Queen.

Parents and students react differently as Mr. Bob Reams, a hypnotist, put Jamie Payne, Mark Howell, Shane Teer, and Lanel Fisher under his spell.

Mr. Les McDoldowney and Mrs. Rita Hunt show off their "nerdish" garb for the camera.

The controversial song "Sabath Bloody Sabath" by Anthrax was lip synced by John Vest and his friends known as the "Metalikatz."

No, this isn't a rebirth of the hippy movement. It is senior Troy Johnston an "Crazy Day."

Da Mrs. Cheryl Williamson and her French students always dress this way? No! They are doing their excellent versions of nerds.

Juniors Present In The Still Of The Night

The 1988 prom queen and king are Leann Sanders and Chad Gantz.

A colorful archway of balloons greet Bart Amburn and Misti Ludwig as they arrive for the prom.

A transformed cafeteria proves that the many months of magazine sales, careful planning, and physical work were well worth the effort.

Sophomores Missy Cummings and Memie Rittenhouse eye the crowd while in charge of refreshments.

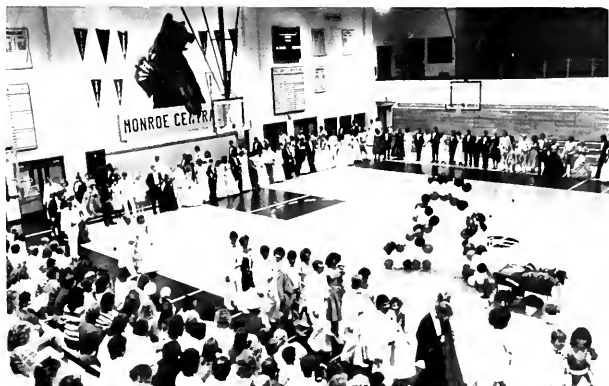

The dance floor becomes packed as students enjoy the music and their partners.

Laura Lockey and her date enjoy a private joke while sitting out a dance.

During the grand march, happy couples display their finery to the assembled parents.

Music Departments Present Nickelodeon

Both the vocal and instrumental music departments helped to present the spring musical. The band performed a patriotic medley, including "America the Beautiful."

Director Marge Stephenson had the vocal groups perform "Nickelodeon." In the opening number an old time jukebox was found which transported the audience back to the songs of the 1920's and 30's.

Two members of the Satin Sounds, Rick Garringer and Jenny Gillespie, perform the "Maple Leaf Rag."

Mandy Akers and Richie Hodge were selected to perform a solo of "Basin Street Blues."

Flag corp members join hands for a bow after a spirited dance number to the tune of "Shake Down."

A mixed group from both concert choir and Satin Sounds helps with the opening number of Nickelodeon.

Candi Jones, winner of the National School Vocal Award, performs the solo number "Hallelujah"

With pom-poms in hand, the Satin Sounds perform "Valentine U."

Heather Swearingen and Jimmy Randall strut their stuff while belting out a song.

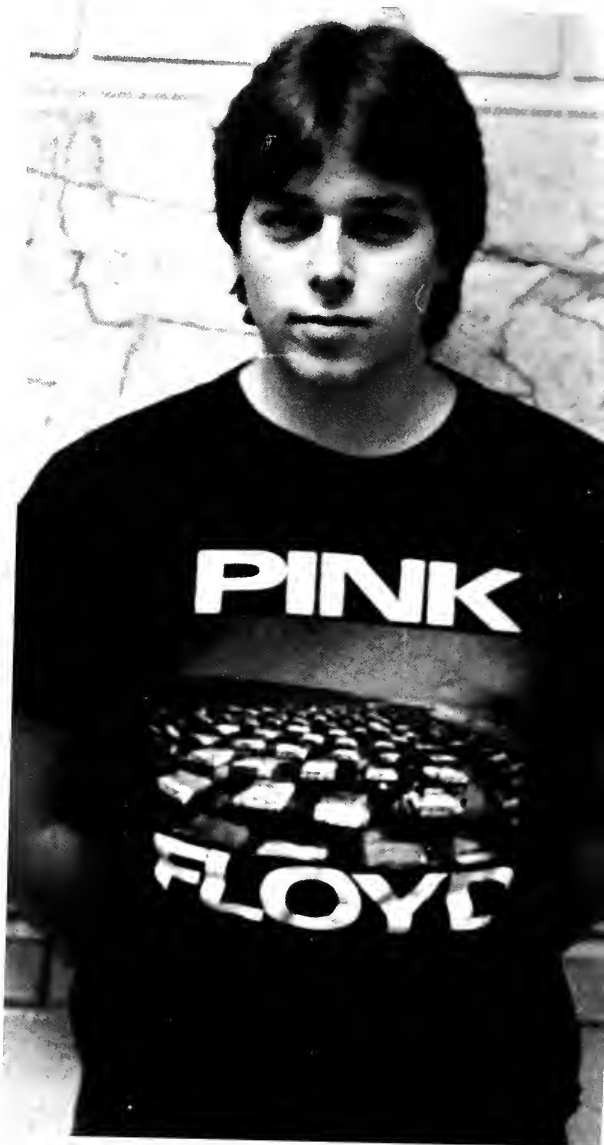

During dress rehearsal, the band chooses to stay cool and comfortable.

Seniors Await Their New Beginning

Although he isn't a star athlete or the top scholar, Ted Wright has obviously impressed his classmates. He was voted "most respected" male in a poll of the class of 1988.

While taking a break from their library duties, Dawn Martin and Mark Howell show the closeness that the senior class has for one another.

No, Cinda Hale may not have the biggest mouth in the class of 1988, but she certainly manages to be heard during passing periods.

Corry Lockard and Jay Weatherly are the Homecoming Queen and King for 1988.

After a lifelong friend and classmate is gone, one can only look back and question why life has to end at such an early age with so much to live for. Johnny's death would be a tragedy if it were not for the fact that I know Johnny lived the most wonderful 17 years anyone could. Often, all someone leaves behind is memories and reminders of what might have been, but Johnny has left us with so much more — a wonderful family which could be envied for both their strength and their love, a legacy of friends from not only Monroe Central, but throughout the county.

When we think of Johnny, let us remember he stood up for what he believed. He was a widely-respected, unique individual who was happy, and most of all, loved by all whose lives he touched.

The library's green easy chairs often bring a smile to Kathleen Shaw's face after a day of sitting in cramped, hard school desks.

As the only fourth year French student, Dawn Martin enjoys a special relationship with Mrs. Cheryl Williams.

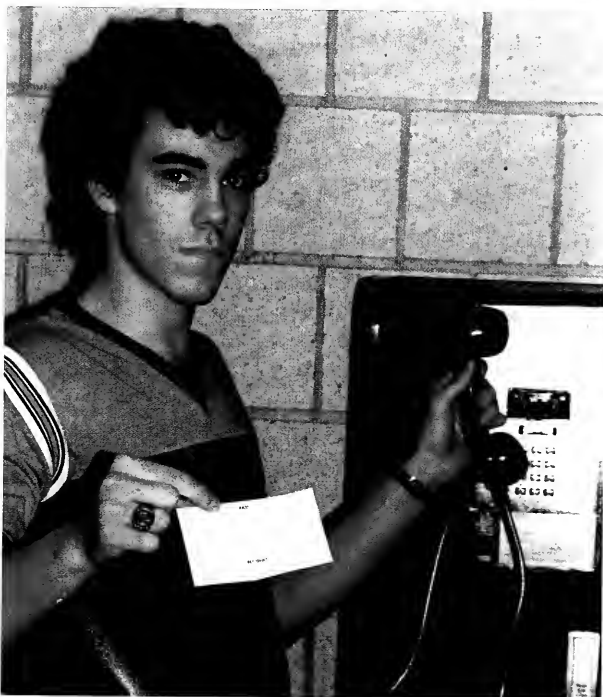

Trinkets and mementos are only a few of the reasons the senior year is both expensive and special.

With his ever-present tuba, Jimmy Randall and the other seniors were an important part of the Marching Bears' great success.

Aaron Stephens and Robbie Bailey were just two of many seniors who showed their school spirit during Homecoming week.

Senior Class Officers — Andrea Fisher, Secretary; Dawn Martin, President; Mark Howell, Sergeant-At-Arms; Jeff Cross, Treasurer; Corry Lockard, Vice President.

Calling home to ask his mother to bring his shoes for basketball practice, Steve Ode must display his hall pass.

Although Jimmy Randall's exact activity in this picture is unknown, it undoubtedly is one of the many pranks played by the seniors.

The "senior hall" is becoming only a memory, but classmates such as Heather Mays and Sandra Mosser can usually find each other between periods.

Before first period Single Living, Kevin Reed, Troy Johnston, Jay Weatherly, and Scott Sours show they are ready for the traditional Homecoming class competition.

Graduation — 1988

As class president, Dawn Martin opens the graduation ceremonies with a prayer.

Monte Gaddis, Calvin Combs, Chad Gantz, Jim Randall, Jeff Cross, Kelly Am-burn, Candi Jones, Sherry Deckman, Staci Smith, Nancy Coulter, Heather Mays, Dawn Martin, and Carrie Champ are winners of the various scholarships provided to the seniors.

As commencement comes to a close, the seniors seem joyful.

Mr. Merle Bryan addresses the seniors for his last time as the superintendent.

Carrie Champ, Sherry Deckman, Carry Lockard, Nancy Coulter, Jennifer Lamb, Loretta Herndon, Renee Watt, and Staci Smith "enjoy" the traditional cigar after the senior banquet held at Tony's Locker Room.

The seniors appear somber as they receive last minute instructions.

As teacher at the year, Paula Washler receives a rather unique gift. The hall passes which had mysteriously disappeared from most teachers had been spray painted with an '88 and fashioned into a necklace.

Many students joined Chad Cross in getting "hands on" experience by venturing into Mr. Brad Key's classroom.

Senior Mark Howell seems to enjoy capturing the "hearts" of many FHA members.

CLASSES / CLUBS

"Let's get Mikey. He'll try anything," seems to be the thoughts of Rod Tinsman and Greg Acree.

"Smile you're on candid camera," is an appropriate line for Sean Anderson, Chad Cross, Jimmy Randall, Leann Sanders, Michelle Fause, and Kim Hoerst.

Band Visits Washington, D.C.

Under the direction of Mr. Doug Fletcher, the pep band makes varsity basketball games more enjoyable.

Not only do the hard-working band mothers such Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Rowe help to raise money for the trip to Washington, but they also keep the students entertained.

Playing on the steps of the nation's capital is an experience that band members will never forget.

The band performs its state fair routine at the annual ice cream social.

After an all night bus ride, Teresa Snodgrass must do some primping before taking in the sights of Washington.

The band performed impressively at its fall concert.

Farmland residents see the band up close on Fire Prevention Day.

Stephenson New Vocal Director

Mrs. Marge Stephenson's first year as Monroe Central's vocal music director was a busy one. Her most ambitious project was the production of "Nickelodeon," the spring musical.

However, the two choral groups had several other activities. During Christmas time, the Satin Sounds visited Indianapolis to perform at Union Station and also entertained faculty members at Mr. Elder's open house. In addition, their performance at the New Hope Convalescent Center was taped by Channel 13 for later airing.

In the Indiana State Music Association Contest the Satin Sound were ranked first. Mandy Akers and Lisa Livezey also received firsts for their instrumental solos in the state contest.

The senior choral members give their last performance as Monroe Central students.

Clubs Develop Skills

Child Development students learned more than theory. Jennifer Fields and the other class members sponsored a play school for one week and acquired practical experience in dealing with young ones.

Gaining On the Job Experience

The Muncie Area Career Center offers students a great opportunity to further their education by attending vocational education classes. MACC gives students an opportunity to try their skills in an actual work situation.

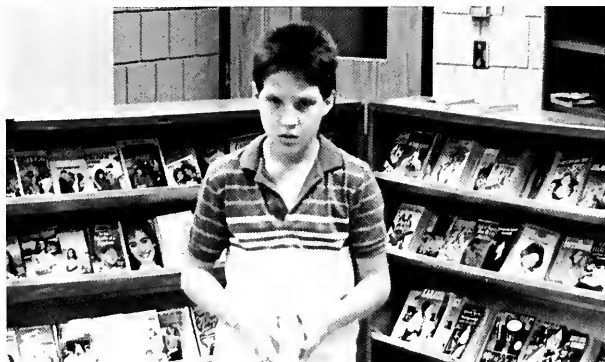

Holly Willis was asked how MACC had helped her. She said, "The career center has helped me become more aware of the responsibilities of having a career. It has also helped me gain more experience in the field I want to go into." Like Holly, other MACC students have the opportunity to go out into the working world and participate in our economy.

The library also gives students responsibilities. Student librarians must learn the procedures needed to run an efficient library. Without the correct procedures, the library would not be as well-managed as it is.

One more responsibility that the student librarians must learn for the 1988-89 school year is how to operate the new IBM computer with its Circulation Plus program.

While visiting the book fair, Joe Blevens finds a book he wants to buy.

Learning To Be A Leader

The student council was active. The group sponsored homecoming as is traditional, but added a new tradition. Dr. Kent Bullis was named as the winner of the first annual alumnus of the year award. Also, "Crazy Day," the last day of homecoming week, was expanded. Students attended only first period class.

The student council also added to the events they sponsor. In November the group hosted a donkey basketball game to raise money. The event was a definite success. Various teams each played a quarter. During one quarter, council members were pitted against their parents.

Another new project was the secret pal program. Council members and interested teachers drew names to see who would be their secret pal. Participants then did good deeds for their pal throughout the year. In the spring, an ice cream social was held to announce the pals.

Members of the student council host an ice cream social for the faculty. At the event both the teachers and the students learned who had been their "secret pal."

MC Does Well In County Show

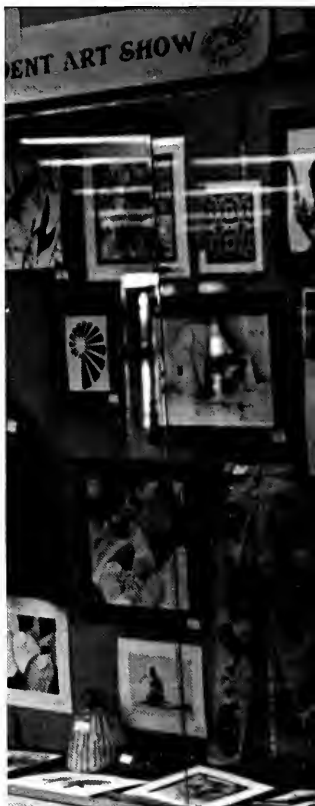

The display case pictured at right contains Monroe Central's entries in the annual Randolph County Art Show. Mrs. Juli Dorton's students dominated several categories. MC students swept the print making division with John Lawson's "Spiral" taking first place. Shelli Smith and Lori Moore placed second and third. Chris Cox, Brian Patty, and Lisa Shockney were awarded honorable mention.

MC also shut out the other county schools in textiles. Joel Davis, Sandy Russell, and Shelli Smith placed first, second, and third while Missy Cummings and Kim Hoerst received honorable mention.

In the jewelry competition, Shelli Smith was first, followed by Marty Dull. In painting John Lawson was third. Missy Cummings was second in drawing.

Science Team Goes To State

In the second year of state-wide academic competition, Monroe Central again did well. The team competed in a twelve member conference which included the five Randolph County schools and Connersville, Blue River, Centerville, Hagerstown, Lincoln, Tri and Union County.

In the first meet of the year Monroe Central hosted Union City, Centerville, and Lincoln. The Bears were awarded all-around honors.

At the conclusion of the season, Indiana Bell sponsored the Hoosier Academic Super Bowl. Monroe Central competed at the Richmond site. The science team was one of only six teams which qualified for the state finals. The English team narrowly missed the finals, losing a tie breaker.

Oh No! Not Burris Again

"You think it's funny? You get out there and let us laugh at you!" This comment might have been heard from a varsity spiker, during the week the Bears met two state-ranked teams, Wapahani and Daleville. Playing these two teams, along with defending state champion and number one ranked Burris did not help the team's record. The Bears ended with a 9-17 mark and were 4-5 in the tough MEC.

Although the season wasn't very successful, some members of the team won individual honors. Seniors Staci Smith and Sherry Deckman made the all-county team, while Nancy Coulter received honorable mention.

The junior varsity had an exceptional season posting a 13-6 record. Capturing the reserve tournament held at Union City was rewarding for Coach Brunette.

Girls Finish At .500; Boys At 4-10.

In a relatively new sport for girls, the Lady Bears enjoyed limited success. Their duel meet record was an even 3-3. However, the girls failed to finish in the top half of any of their three invitational appearances or in the sectional. Connie Foutz was named as the MVP.

In duel meet competition the boys were a rather dismal 4-10 and fared no better in invitational competition, also failing to finish in the top half in any appearance.

Freshman Moulton

Wins MVP Honors

Neither the varsity nor reserves had much success in terms of winning. The varsity posted a 3-17 mark and did not earn a victory until February when they defeated Blackford for the first time in school history.

Individually, the Bears did have some newsworthy results. According to the Muncie Star, Steve Odle was the three point leader of east central Indiana through the early season. However, it was the spectacular play of freshman Matt Moulton which drew the most recognition. Matt lead the team in rebounding, averaged 17 points, shot 62 percent from the field and 79 from the line.

The junior varsity also suffered a losing season, winning only six of nineteen.

Although known for his three point attempts, Steve Odle did get a few easy baskets.

In the early going of the homecoming game, Chris Stites knotted the score at 4-4.

Guard Shane Klisavage, the second leading scorer, has the ball in the triple threat position as he attempts to get the junior Bears off to a good start in their homecoming game.

Although an experienced coach, Ed Zeigler had many tense moments during his first season as coach of the reserve team.

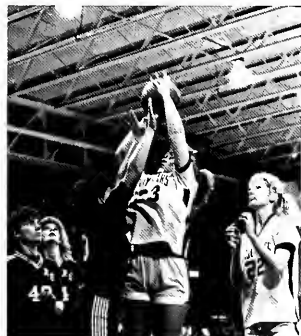

Lady Bears Break Even At 9-9.

After losing five of their first six games the Lady Bears rallied, ending with a 9-9 mark. Long-time rival, Randolph Southern, again played a big part in the overall season. MC was successful in an early season game, 60-52. However, the Lady Rebels destroyed the Golden Bears 58-35 in county tourney action and topped them again in the sectional — 48-38.

Seniors contributed much. Leann Sanders was leading scorer, while Staci Smith paced the team in rebounds and Heather Mays in assists. Hillary Hoyt earned all-conference honors, while Leann Sanders was named to the sectional team.

The junior varsity carved out a 9-5 record while averaging 32 points per game to their opponents' 23. Individually, Misti Ludwig was team leader in both scoring and rebounding.

Senior Heather Mays tries in vain to spark a rally in the sectional loss to Randolph Southern's Lady Rebels.

After sneaking inside the Rebel defense, Hillary Hoyt connects for two points.

Calvin Combs Advances To State

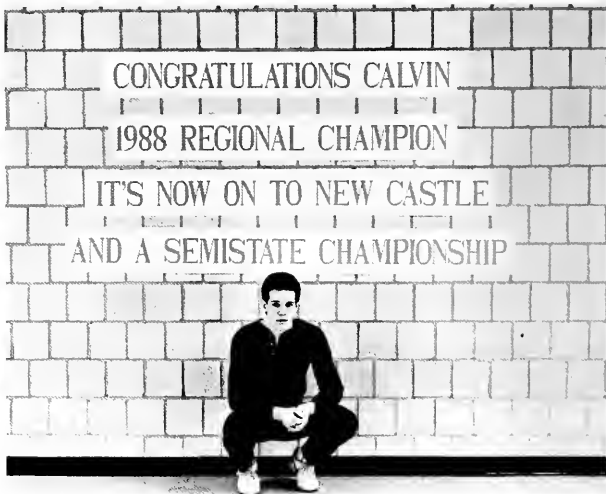

When talking about the Monroe Central wrestling season, one must talk about Calvin Combs. Although the team's season mark, 5-6-1, was below the high standards set by previous teams, Calvin had an outstanding season. He became only the second wrestler in school history to qualify for the state finals, and set a variety of school records, including most career wins, most career pins, most career championships, most season wins, and most team points.

Kevin Reed joined Combs as a regional qualifier by virtue of winning the Jay County sectional. Greg Marlow also established a new school record by pinning an opponent in seven seconds.

Although Greg Marlow was defeated by Union City's Curtis in the county match, he met him again in the sectional and won 5-0.

Over the years Coach Les McElDowney has built a warm relationship with his teams. During county tourney action former wrestler Miles Townsend encourages the current Bears.

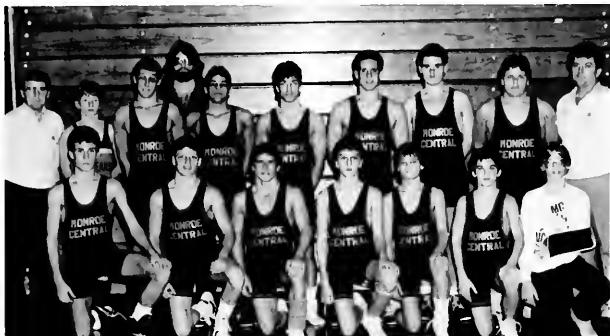

By pinning Randolph Southern's Knoll in 1:06, Jay Weatherly claimed a third place finish in the conference.

Lockard, Joe Skeen, Jon Winner, Chris Cox, Kevin Reed, Tom Bean, Calvin Combs, Kevin Faughnder, Greg Marlow, Coach Les McElDowney.

Coaches' Spotlight

Lockard and McElDowney are familiar names to any follower of the Golden Bear Grapplers. Unlike the basketball team which has seen many coaches in the twenty-four year history of MC, only Ed Lockard and Les McElDowney have coached wrestling.

In the 1970-71 season, Coach Lockard started what has proved to be a successful sport at MC. There have been only three losing seasons and the team has won 66% of its dual meets. Coach Lockard compiled a 68-34 record.

The undefeated seasons of 1977 and 1978 were among the highlights of his career, according to Lockard. He also cited the sectional championship in 1977, but said his greatest pleasure has been his pride in "all the individuals who have competed in the program and gone on to become outstanding citizens."

For Coach McElDowney the biggest thrill was, "This year looking up at the crowd from the floor of Market Square rather than down from the seats. That was my goal. That's the epitome."

Coach McElDowney compiled a fine 68-38 record and won two county and one conference championships. Due to a desire to spend more time with his family "Big Mac" retired at the close of the season; however, Coach Lockard will coach the varsity next year, trying to add to his record of three county, three conference, and one sectional championships.

Parrot of Randolph Southern remains down throughout his match with Rod Tinsman. By winning the match, Rod finished third in the county.

Boys Win County And Conference

Although the boys' dual meet mark was a mediocre 5-4-1, they were outstanding in winning both the county and conference.

In the county the Bears dominated. Four golfers placed in the top ten — Joey Sparks, Matt Moulton, Keith Turner, and Shane Klisavage.

The team was more convincing in the conference, overwhelming runnerup Burris by seventeen strokes. Chris Stites was the champion, followed by Joey Sparks.

The Bears narrowly missed qualifying for the regional. They were tied for third, but the fifth man's score gave the regional berth to Yorktown.

The Lady Bears compiled a 4-7 season mark and finished sixth in the sectional. Carry Lorkard won low medalist honors.

Before a meet, low medalist Matt Moulton practices his iron shots.

Although Mr. Ed Lockard resigned the girls' coaching position, he will return as boys' coach.

Girls Win County; Finish 9-2

In a year where few Golden Bear teams had much success both the girls' and boys' track teams were able to post winning records. The girls had a fine 9-2 dual meet record and won the county championship for the fifth time in the last ten years. Staci Smith was named MVP and both Hilary Hoyt and Renee Watt qualified for regional competition.

The boys were also above .500, posting a 6-4 dual meet record. However, the team did not fare as well in larger meets. The Bears were fourth in the county and ninth in the conference.

Neither varsity team established any new school records, although the girls team loses several outstanding senior record holders. Renee Watt has three school track records while Leann Sanders, Staci Smith, and Nancy Coulter each have two.

Good concentration helped Greg Marlowe win an award as the outstanding performer in field events.

Baseball Team Struggles

In baseball, the Golden Bears struggled, losing nine games before winning one. One reason for the poor showing may have been a lack of experience. Only two full-time varsity players returned from last year's team. MC was also inconsistent on defense.

Individually, Calvin Combs improved his hitting dramatically. Last season his batting average was a lowly .166; however, he more than doubled it to lead the team with a .372 average and also cut his strikeouts in half.

Jeff Dragoo topped the team in several categories. He had the most RBI's, scored the most runs, had the best on-base percentage, and the most doubles. Understandably, Jeff received the most valuable player award.

Coach Wagner commented that Monte Gaddis was the most consistent defensive player and presented the mental attitude award to Aaron Estes.

Spring Brings Awards Banquet

Shown posing with their Lions' Club Sportsmanship Awards, Staci Smith and Calvin Combs also were the recipients of the Monroe Central Athletic Booster Scholarships.

For his all-around achievement, Jimmy Randall was named the winner of the Brian Meister Memorial Scholarship.

Freshman Matt Moulton made off with most of the basketball awards, including MVP.

Due to outstanding performances in either regular season play or tournament competition, the top five golfers — Keith Turner, Joey Sparks, Matt Moulton, Chris Stiles, and Shane Kilsavage — each received an individual award.

Jon Winner appears pleased with his award as the most improved wrestler.

Jeff Cross and Heather Mays are the winners of the Paul H. Beck Award, which is presented for outstanding accomplishments in athletics and the classroom.

Staci Smith, Calvin Combs, and Hilary Hoyt receive outstanding athlete awards. The award requires a minimum of ten varsity letters.

As a retirement present, Coach Les McEl-downey receives a wall decoration containing a picture of each of his nine wrestling teams and their accomplishments.

Four Lady Bears — Heather Mays, Staci Smith, Shelli Smith, and Lydia Hoyt — are honored for their individual accomplishments.

The Weaker Sex??

If woman are the weaker sex, someone should tell Renee Watt. Despite suffering two broken wrists in the conference track meet, only a day before the sectional, Renee still competed in the sectional. Even more remarkable, her performance was good enough to advance to the regional.

On November 27, 1985 the first athletes were inducted into the Monroe Central Athletic Hall of Fame. In each succeeding year, five more former student/athletes have been honored, bringing the current total to 15.

To be eligible a former student must be out of school for five years. In addition to athletic accomplishments, the members are also judged on their post-high school activities. Selection is made by a nine member committee of school administrators, coaches, and community members.

It is doubtful that Jeremy Dye will ever play cards with Brandon Cass and Andy Knight again, at least not during a blackout. It appears that Brandon might have taken advantage of the dim light to fill a straight.

Being junior class sponsors requires overtime. Mrs. Cheryl Williamson and Mr. David Washler not only supervised such after-school activities as homecoming banners, but also spent many hours on two traditional junior class activities — magazine sales and the prom.

Top Administrators Retire

Mr. Merle Bryan

The close of this school year marked the end of an era for the Monroe Central School Corporation. The two top administrators, who had a combined total of 49 years with the school system, resigned.

Mr. Frank Brown, director of special services, announced his retirement early in the year. Mr. Brown has been an educator for 39 years and has spent 37 of those years in districts which make up the present Monroe Central School Corporation. His career began in 1949 at Stoney Creek where he taught business and math for eight years. After a two year teaching stint at Lynn, he became principal of Farmland High School for four years. When Farmland became part of a consolidation which created Monroe Central, Mr. Brown served as assistant principal of the new high school. In 1976 he became director of special services. His main responsibilities were to oversee the maintenance of the buildings and to see that the corporation's school buses were running smoothly and on time.

Superintendent Merle Bryan caught the community off guard when he announced his retirement plans in early spring. Mr. Bryan an began his career in 1950 and has 22 years of experience in the Monroe Central Corporation. In 1966 he became principal of Monroe Central High School and held the position until becoming superintendent on July 1, 1973.

During his first year as superintendent, a tornado destroyed the high school and Mr. Bryan was faced with many difficult decisions. However, due largely to his leadership, education was interrupted very little. In fact, students missed only two days. Once students were again in school, Bryan turned his attention to rebuilding. Although the work "seemed endless," he did enjoy the special closeness that developed between him and the school board and also the community.

Once the high school was rebuilt, Mr. Bryan had to deal with the building of a long overdue elementary to replace the Parker and Farmland buildings. However, "The elementary experience," he stated "was simplified due to the 'tornado' experience."

The Hi Lites staff, along with the whole community, thanks to both men for their long years of service and wishes both a long and happy retirement.

Mr. Frank Brown

School Board — Mrs. Anne Hinshaw, Mrs. Sue Calhoun, Mr. Clifford Coulter, Mr. Dave Smithson

Considering the many duties and responsibilities of a high school principal, it's easy to understand Mr. Don Elder's somewhat bemused smile.

Although Assistant Principal Larry New manages to keep smiling, his job was complicated by the new, stricter attendance policy.

Much of guidance counselor Dick Meister's time is occupied by recordkeeping.

Answering the phone is just one job Mrs. Cindy Jones has to do.

The night-time cleaning would not be done if it wasn't for Merle Thurman.

Clyde Small is the third shift janitor that has the building clean for school the next day.

Bus Drivers — Rick Mihollin, Melvin Craig, Barbara Whitehead, Keith Love, Dick Sloniker, Mike Hiatt, Gene Fudge, Allen Sloniker, Bob Neal.

Although Lynn Davis does treat various cuts and bruises, much of her time is spent keeping required state health records

After school, Mr. Marvin Weimer begins his nightly cleaning routine in Mr. Clevenger's room

Surprisingly, this picture was taken in early October, not late January. The frigid conditions in the junior high wing drove Kari Keller, Angela Wood, Nancy Townsend, and Kara West to dig out their winter clothes early.

Good setting by Tammy Meyer is one reason the eighth graders repeated as county volleyball champions.

Leslie Cass goes up for a spike in match play.

Learning the rules of good sportsmanship is an important part of the junior high program.

Spikers And Striders

Athletic Director Larry New acts as both a timer and a cheerleader for Jeremy Ferguson.

The fall season brought mixed results to the junior high sport scene. Both cross country teams posted winning records. The seventh graders finished with 6 wins and 4 losses and placed second in the county meet. The eighth graders were 7-3 and also finished second in the county.

In volleyball only the eighth grade had a winning record; however, it was outstanding. The team had a 14-2 match record and repeated as county champions. In addition, the junior spikers also won the East Jay Invitational.

The seventh grade girls were 3-8 and lost to Union 15-13, 15-9, in their first game of the county.

Success in cross country requires training. Matt Acree practices for an upcoming meet.

Junior High Cross Country —

After splitting the defense, Travis Weddle attempts to score inside against Union City.

Under Coach Wagner, who came to MC this year after teaching at Burris for the last several years, the eighth grade boys improved throughout the season.

A tenacious man-to-man defense accounts for much of the eighth graders' success.

Eighth Grade Boys' Basketball
— Front Row: Donnie Cox, Chad Stanley, Jeff Gaddis. Back Row: Jeremy Ferguson, Garrett

Collins, Travis Weddle, William McCollum, Colin Weaver, Curt Puckett, Coach Dave Wagner.

Although Curt Puckett and Jeremy Ferguson appear to be outmanned, their teamwork paid off with a 10-5 record.

8th Grade Wins County

In both girls' and boys' basketball, the eighth graders were more successful than the seventh. The eighth grade boys finished with a fine 10-5 record and were county champions. The Bears limited their opponents to 28 points per game while scoring 34. The team was paced by play-making guard Jeff Gaddis who averaged 9.7 points per game.

The seventh grade boys were 2-13, but Coach Jeff Tharp felt that the team made "great strides in understanding the importance of teamwork."

Although the eighth grade girls did manage to post a winning 7-5 record, their season was somewhat disappointing when compared to last year's mark. Perhaps the biggest disappointment was the team's failure to repeat as county champions. The junior Lady Bears were eliminated in the tourney by Winchester, a team they had defeated earlier in the season by a score of 35-19.

The seventh grade girls were 2-7, but some improvement was evident. As sixth graders the girls were winless.

Schwartz, Leslie Cass, Roxanne Shaw, Angelique Williamson, Elissa Homan, Coach Tracy Koch.

Chad Ramsey appears too tired to enjoy his victory.

Cheerful Cheerleaders Cheer On

Eighth Grade Cheerleaders — Stephanie Klisavage, Tammy Meyer, Kathleen Crouch, Amy Weddle.

Seventh Grade Cheerleaders — Karissa Grove, Angela Wood, Jody Gabbard, Desi Hud-dle

Tammy Meyer has the right blend of enthusiasm and talent to make a good cheerleader.

As he clears the last hurdle, Travis Garrison has the lead.

The mile is demanding, particularly for seventh grade girls. Karissa Grove and Treasa Keith clearly show the effects of the rigorous race.

Not only does Brett Sears seem to run easily, but he also has a comfortable lead over his Driver Middle School opponent.

Spring Sprinters

By leaning at the tape, Donnie Cox scores a narrow victory over teammate Monte Gourley.

Parting Shots And Thoughts

After serving as secretary during three school years, Mrs. Cindy Jones has resigned. Mrs. Connie Akers, the former secretary, will replace her. Thanks, Cindy, for a job well done.

Even before one school year ends, plans must be made for another. MC's administrators, Mr. New, Mr. Elder, and Mr. Meister, help students register for the 88-89 school year.

The annual sweetheart dance sponsored by the FHA holds pleasant memories for the happy couples who attended.

At the FFA barbeque, Mr. Don Elder mugs for the camera. School events take up much of a principal's after-school hours. He attends sporting events, as well as club functions.

Do you recognize this foot print? That's exactly what the administraiton tried to do when the driver's education car was damaged. Students wearing Converse shoes were questioned.

Whether one is a seventh grader like Nancy Townsend and Stacy Cox or a more sophisticated senior, every student enjoys homecoming and the spirit it generates.

The view may be slightly different, but it's still Monroe Central, home of the Golden Beors.

High School Happy Days

Like Michelle Byrd's upbeat lip sync entry, we all hope the good guys win.

Often there is much going on behind the scenes. FTA members carefully work out the pose for their group shot.

Even without partners, Lonel Fisher and Jill Calhoun have a great time on the dance floor.

High school is a time for close friendships. On a fall afternoon Carrie Champ and Kelly Amburn form memories which will last a lifetime.
